

Beneficiary nomination form

Explanatory notes

As a CSCri member, you can make either a binding, non-binding or reversionary nomination for the distribution of your remaining account balance when you die.

The difference

A valid binding nomination is used to nominate your preferred beneficiaries and it generally binds Commonwealth Superannuation Corporation (CSC) to pay your death benefit to the beneficiaries you have nominated. A valid binding nomination provides greater certainty about who receives your benefit if you die and overrules any previous non-binding or binding nominations, but not a reversionary nomination. Binding nominations are valid for three years from the date they are signed. We will send you a reminder three months before it is due to expire.

A non-binding nomination is used to nominate your preferred beneficiaries. Your nomination will not be binding on CSC, and will only be used as a guide when we determine who we pay your benefit to. A non-binding nomination will not expire.

A reversionary nomination is used to nominate the dependant to whom we will pay an income stream until the account balance is nil or they fully withdraw the income stream. Similarly to a binding nomination, this option provides greater certainty about who receives your benefit when you die. It also overrules any previous nominations. In the event of your death, the income stream will be paid to your nominated dependant and that person has authority to manage the account (meaning they can switch investment options, change the annual payment amount, make withdrawals, etc.). You can only nominate one person as your reversionary beneficiary. A reversionary nomination will not expire.

Important: If you make a reversionary nomination, you cannot make a non-binding or binding death benefit nomination. There may be taxation or social security implications, which could affect your decision. For more information, please read the CSCri PDS (available at csc.gov.au). We also recommend that you seek professional advice for your situation.

Note: If you commenced your CSCri income stream prior to 1 January 2015 and nominated a reversionary beneficiary at that time, you cannot change your nomination.

Privacy

We're committed to protecting your privacy. We collect your personal information for the purposes of providing superannuation services to you, improving our products and to keep you informed. We will only share your personal information where necessary for providing superannuation services to you. This may include disclosing your personal information to our scheme administrator, service providers or government or regulatory bodies. Your personal information may be accessed overseas by our service providers. Please see our privacy policy for full details. Your personal information will not be otherwise used or disclosed unless required or permitted under law. A full copy of our privacy policy as well as the privacy complaint process is available at csc.gov.au/privacy.

And the nominees are ...

Binding and non-binding

The following people may be nominated by you to receive your remaining CSCri account balance when you die:

- · Your current spouse or de facto
- Your children of any age (including step, adopted or ex-nuptial)
- Your Legal Personal Representative (the executor of your Will or administrator of your estate)
- a person with whom you have an interdependency relationship under superannuation law, including someone you provide with financial, domestic and personal support

Reversionary

The following people are eligible to be elected as a reversionary beneficiary:

- Your spouse
- Your children under 18*, or
- An interdependent (both at the time of your nomination and your death)

*Important: you can nominate a child 18 or older only if (i) they are aged between 18 and 25 and financially dependent on you immediately before your death, or (ii) they are disabled within the meaning of the Disability Services Act 1986 (Cth).

Any income stream payable to a child over 18 years old who is not disabled, will only be paid until the child reaches the age of 25, at which time a lump sum of the remaining account balance will be paid. If the child is disabled as described above, the income stream will be payable until the account balance becomes zero.

I've forgotten who I've nominated

Never mind, we all forget things sometimes. If you have forgotten who you last nominated, here are a few places you can check:

- Log in to your CSCri member online and click on the beneficiaries tab
- On your annual statement
- Send us an email members@cscri.com.au, or
- Give us a call and we'll be happy to tell you, 1300 736 096

Do I still need a Will?

It is very important to understand that a beneficiary nomination, binding or otherwise, does not replace a Will. Your nomination has no bearing on your assets outside of superannuation and you must not view this nomination as being a substitute for a legally enforceable Will.

How about financial advice?

Ultimately, your choice of beneficiaries is a decision that only you can make. However, before you make any decisions, we recommend you seek advice from a professional, such as a licensed financial planner, solicitor or accountant. A professional adviser may help you identify and explain any considerations (for example, tax implications) that may need to be taken into account.

CSC's authorised financial planners provide a personalised service that takes your objectives, financial situation and needs into account.

For more information about this service, or to book your first advice appointment, call 1300 277 777 during business hours or visit csc.gov.au.
