

Your specialist investment teams around the world

Local knowledge and expertise in the regions in which our investments operate is critical to selecting and managing those investments.

We are able to match the right people, with specialist skills, to oversee management of the different risks that are part of every investment we make for you.

When partnering with skilled external investment managers and operators we look for:

1. An ability to look ahead

- Unique insights: about the key moving parts of their markets
- Effective implementation: an ability to convert those insights and ideas into real wealth
- Integrated risk management: an awareness and genuine capacity to pro-actively manage and reduce the risks involved in selecting and managing assets over the long-term.
- Capable team culture: having the right skills; a keen self-awareness of strengths and weaknesses; diversity of thinking for robust challenge of ideas; and the appropriate incentives to align investment team success with your objectives.

2. Insights that are sustainable over time

- Clear communication of how value can be created for you and why this can be repeated over the long-term.
- A process for continual improvement in the way they invest.

3. Alignment between their success and yours

- Fees and remuneration structures that reward investment performance, defined in terms of increased returns to you and reduced risk borne by you.
- Portfolios that are managed within the constraints and guidelines we establish.
- Robust legal, compliance and operational systems that mean you are not exposed to unnecessary business risks.

We apply these criteria to both potential new external investment partners as well as those we currently use. If managers cannot meet these fundamental requirements, CSC will not partner with them.
